C07 / Policy design in times of crises: theoretical and methodological challenges

Topic : Preconference

Chair : Giliberto Capano (Università di Bologna)

GENERAL OBJECTIVES, RESEARCH QUESTIONS AND SCIENTIFIC RELEVANCE

We live in turbulent times, in which policy dynamics are characterized to be as highly variable, inconsistent, unexpected, and/or unpredictable. Thus policy-makers have to design policies under pressure, and often under the veil of ignorance (in terms of cause-effect relationship. How can they design robust policies under these persisting critical conditions?

This workshop will focus on this general theme by collectively discussing the following issues and key concepts:

- Ambiguity and uncertainty: their impact on policy design
- The various dimensions of crises and their impact on policy design
- Organizational and institutional solutions for guaranteeing policy robustness in turbulent times.
